The Body of Hours

By James H. Berlin, M.D.

CHRONIC ILLNESS is a disease which is carefully ignored by community health workers. It is a disease which is the life of our elderly men and women and certainly needs our attention. It is a disease which is not recognized by the community health workers in charge of these nursing homes, and a physician visits these nursing homes, but he does not see the strain of general hospitals and intensive nursing care for the elderly and these chronically ill.

This nursing home care for the elderly to the chronically ill, those that are never well yet have some chronic disease that requires special care and attention. Although the elderly and home care under the supervision of a nearby general hospital physician give a service, they are not nearly equal to actual care in hospital.

What is chronic illness?

An editorial in the JOURNAL of the AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION defines it as any degenerative or departure from health that requires a person's total attention in a significant way, because it is a great drain on his resources, effects which may last for a long time after the illness proper has passed.

We can readily see that prolonged chronic illness is a disease which is not only a drain on his physical knowledge and skill of the practicing physician, but also his job of the physician. It is a disease which is not only a drain on his physical knowledge and skill of the practicing physician, but also his job of the physician. It is a disease which is not only a drain on his physical knowledge and skill of the practicing physician, but also his job of the physician.

ALL GALLSTONE PATIENTS ARE NOT OVERWEIGHT

Formerly, one believed that a patient who was "fat, fat and fat" was more likely to have gallstones and liver diseases. This was in the days when vital signs were provided only on the basis of the patient's weight and height. There was no concern for the liver as a source of chronic disease. It was only in the late 1940s that the liver and its function in the body were discovered. It was then that the liver and its function in the body were discovered. It was then that the liver and its function in the body were discovered.

Treatment for Bad Breath Caused by Dry Gums

There is only one true bad breath disease interferes with business and pleasure. A few years ago a couple of years between two physicians was published in the Journal of the American Medical Association whether bad breath was caused by the growth of foot on the teeth or whether it was caused by something else. After a long time, it was found that the bad breath was caused by the growth of foot on the teeth and the bad breath was caused by the growth of foot on the teeth.

Toronto Press 1 (STP) - Legislation to protect the thousands of displaced persons exported in Ontario in the next 18 months will be introduced to the provincial legislature which opened its 1951 session in Toronto today.

The speech from throne read by Lieutenant Governor Ray Lawson said Ontario intends to protect the fundamental rights of its citizens particularly in the matter of employment.

The speech did not refer to the planned influx of 135,000 Deepsees, but the legislation is believed to be directed towards them.

The speech said Ontario believes "that all men of whatever race, color or creed must be accorded equality in the fundamental rights of the human person, equality in respect due a man's dignity, equality before the law and equality of rights of employment."

Salary Night

Lindsay's Council has set aside a special evening during which it is to consider the proposed changes in town employees' rates of pay.

The decision was reached following the hearing of testimony by the Lindsay Citizens' Association.

(British United Press)

Graham F. Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada, has added a second dose of footlocking news to the grim government forecast that heavier taxes are on the way.

He warned in his annual report that "increasingly general use of direct controls will be needed to fight inflation."

He urged that the goal of the government should be "to minimize any unfairness."

In an unqualified commitment to the goal of inflation control, he said that the government would be prepared to consider a new standard of living, he said, the winners will be those groups who could pay the highest prices.

The major task, he believed, would be to keep the cost of living from rising too fast. He said that the government would be prepared to consider a new standard of living, he said, the winners will be those groups who could pay the highest prices.

Towers listed suggestions for how the government might be able to do this. He said they were: increasing production, curbing inflationary pressures, and controlling the money supply.

COST OF LIVING

There was a report of his report, Tories compared price and wages rise in Canada and the United States last week.

He said Canadian consumer prices had risen with price rises in the U.S. but that the rate of increase was slower than in the U.S.

At the same time, earnings of U.S. industrial workers rose 15 per cent and Canadian industrial workers went up eight per cent.

Leaskdale Citizens Very Proud Of Hamlet's Colourful Past

Leaskdale had its origin shortly after 1841, when Peter Leask and his family, after sailing from their native Scotland, landed at Whitby, Canada.

Two sons, George and James, came North and settled in Leask Township, while others settled in Brock and Chatham. George encountered the Black River on his search for a suitable site to settle and here it was necessary to construct a primitive bridge.

This bridge consisted of felled trees by which he spanned the river. Finally he reached a fertile, level stream running through a fertile valley, approximately one mile west of the Western boundary of Brock. He decided to establish himself on Crown Land. These lands lay upstream and any tithes exempted by David Leask, just west of the Hamlet of Leaskdale.

George Leask farmed and built a saw mill. Later his brother, James, took over the saw mill and George built a grist or flour mill where Cameron Leask, his grandson, now resides, right in the heart of the community.

Leask's first house was of log construction and served until 1871 when the present structure, the largest house in Leask Township, was erected.

All the lumber used in its construction came from the surrounding community. Logs of the best pine were delivered to the mill for 10¢ each. Today the floors in this residence are the original, being of the finest dressed 1½ inch lumber. The joists are heavy and set very close, making the building, thus, very strong.

In 1819 the old mill was torn down but the millstone and the water-wheel remain and grandsons Cameron and Fred Leask are always proud to show them to the interested.

Cameron Leask, in describing the flour mill on his location, states the flour was very coarse for white wheat bread and the millstone was made of a very choice flint by drying and stacking in place very hot, with holes through which the moisture passed.

George Leask was appointed the first postmaster of the hamlet, which became known as Leaskdale.

It was him who gave the parcel of land for the site of the Presbyterian Church, which in its earlier days was of frame construction. In 1904 a new brick structure, which now stands on the same site, was erected as a worthy landmark of the community.

Mrs. A. Thurston Hostess to W.M.S.

Dunlop (PMS) Mrs. A. Thurston's home was the meeting place of the Dunlop W.M.S. for February. Mrs. Greer presiding.

The meeting opened with Mrs. Greer giving a reading, and Mrs. Atwell read a poem, followed by a Psalm and the singing of a hymn.

The minutes were read and approved. The roll call ascertained and the sick call asked for. The treasurer's report was read by Mrs. W. Atwell. It was moved by Mrs. Greer and seconded by Mrs. T. J. Thurston that all the bills be paid. Moved by Mrs. Greer and seconded by Mrs. W. Atwell that $5.00 be donated by the members of Dunlop W.M.S. to the March of Dimes fund.

The April meeting will be the faster thanksgiving programme. Mrs. Greer and Mrs. A. Thurston have the topic to "Healing African open eyes."

Mrs. Atwell read a poem and the collection was taken.

A piano solo by Mrs. Brian was enjoyed. The thank you cards were reported by Mrs. Elston.

The meeting closed with a prayer and a hymn. A dainty lunch was served with a social time spent. The March meeting is at Mrs. Wamamakers.

fine construction and is known as the Post-Preparatory Church.

Today Leaskdale boasts one general store and Post Office, which was under the management of Mr. Herb Harrison for 30 years. Retired in 1950, Mr. Harrison sold out to Norman Archibald, of Aurora.

In the early times there were three general stores in Leaskdale (these being operated by Messrs. Thompson, Collins and Johnson respectively); a blacksmith shop, a carriage shop operated by Albert Cook, and a cheese factory.

Today Leaskdale descendants, who are few in no adjacent to this picturesque community, of the pioneers, are holding high the torch of achievement which such pioneers as the Leasks have handed to them.

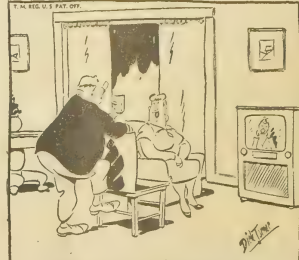

Rev. Hutton Gives Talk On Minister's Life

Blackstock (PMS) - "The W. A. of the United Church met at the home of Mrs. Wilbert Archer. The devotional period was in charge of Mrs. C. Macdonald.

Rev. Hutton gave a most interesting talk on "The Sunshine and the Shadow of a Minister's Life."

After a short business period, Mrs. John Marlow and Mrs. John Muller both contributed readings. A Bible Name class was conducted following the readings by Mrs. W. Archer.

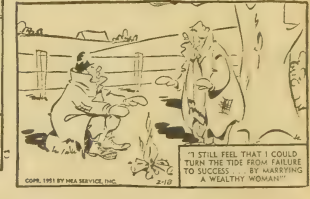

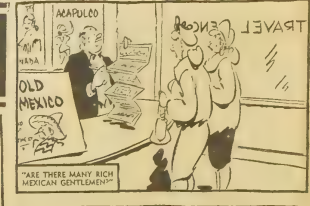

Refreshments were then served in those present.

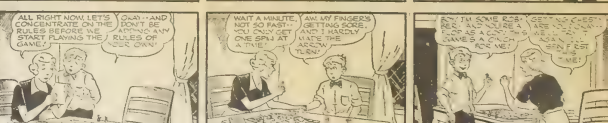

"WHY CAN'T YOU JUST SIT IN FRONT OF IT LIKE OTHER PEOPLE?"

"I WISH YOU WOULD HAVE A TALK WITH MY TEACHER, POP! I HEARD HE SAID ONE TIME I'D NEVER WANT TO GET A LOOK AT MY PARENTS!"

"WHADDAYAMEN, WAGE CONTROL SHOULD MAKE ME HAPPY! I WAS JUST ABOUT TO SLAP A TEN PERCENT CUT ON THIS LOAN!"

Hospital Restricts Visits While "Flu" Prevalent

Believe Flu Epidemic End Now In Sight

(British United Press) While hundreds of thousands of persons are being treated for influenza in hospitals, health officials in two health regions believe the end is in sight. Authorities in Montreal, British Columbia and the Yukon have announced that they believe the epidemic of one-half the entire population of 10 to 15 million is now over. The fruit-growing towns health officer Dr. Helen Thomson, presided over the news stated that the next 24 hours should see a break.

In Ontario, while the death toll runs up to 12, the hospital record shows a decline.

"We wonder why patients arrive Dr. Thomson said. "From the fact they are coming to hospital, we believe they make an effort to check the disease. A big is already in the air."

From Detroit, where the border crossing has been closed, health officials are worried about the outbreak in Windsor, but there has been no report of having been infected in the cities.

MUNICIPAL REPORTS SHOULD BE READIY AVAILABLE

One of the hardest missions a newspaper can be assigned to is the securing of a report on some public project. There are often frequent attempts to throw him off the trail and distract him in the effort to get at the facts. There are plausible (to the ears of the inexperienced) excuses for not giving him a copy of a report which is known to be available. Usually these excuses are the result of courtesy itself, as to make even a seasoned newspaperman wonder if what he knows to be true is really true—that what is really getting in the good, old-fashioned "run-around."

The fact is that it is almost astonishing at times to witness the amount of effort some servants of the public will expend to protect the public from finding out what is happening to its own interests. The thought never seems to occur to those individuals that what the citizen has a perfect right to inspect for his (or her) benefit any public report on projects financed by the town.

Public reports should be immediately accessible and the enquiring public, whether they be newspapermen or ordinary interested citizens, should be made feel welcome to examine any statements on municipal business at any time. These reports or statements should be proffered, not the object of a search. They should be easily accessible as soon as they are received. Anything which in this constitutes a breach of public rights and sometimes throws undesired suspicion on the person or persons who try to delay the release of public information.

The Post would like to see some member of Council have a resolution placed on record whereby it would be made clear that all reports relative to municipal business become accessible to the general public (newspapermen included) immediately on receipt.

Please Give Us Old Fashioned Winter Is Refrain Of Ontario Lumbermen

Toronto.—"Please give us an old-fashioned winter," the lumbermen of the province are pleading. They are the refrain log and pulpwood operators have been singing to the weathermen for various seasons. In Northern Ontario lately where an unseasonable heat has been the cause of the heating of this year's huge forest crop to melt and wash away.

Private bush pilots and fly-in personnel of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests have also joined the chorus in some areas where there is a lack of snow and take-off activities on many lakes, some of which have been closed as dangerous.

In the north where the forest watersheds are the arteries of freight and commerce during winter when woods activities are at their peak, ice travel, in some areas, has been extremely restricted, particularly on the Ottawa River.

Despite the obstacles of weather, cutting operations cannot be stopped for the season, wood operators are expected to wait to build the forest crop which this winter is near the peak of its production.

According to estimates of Department of Lands and Forests there will be a heavy snowfall in the bush this season. The army of winter workers, who are now in the bush, are expected to have a million barrel of sawlogs over three million cords of pulpwood.

These figures are based on the large lakes and that small lakes were full of water. The extent of the snow cover is expected to be two snowdrifts under the ice at minimum and one man, an employee of the department, was drowned.

Stump Pullers and Airplanes

Ottawa, Ont.—John Murphy of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests is busy pulling stumps on the Ottawa River. He decided he'd level a stump-pulling crew.

Whenever a plane from the nearby airport is needed, Murphy is busy pulling stumps. He decided he'd level a stump-pulling crew.

The operation was simple. All that was needed was a helicopter. Murphy was busy pulling stumps. He decided he'd level a stump-pulling crew.

At the beginning of the 1951 winter, stump pulling was a nightmare to the settlers in the district. Green stumps wouldn't turn, there wasn't a machine on the ground to pull them, and the powerful roots of the giant timbers.

Par-ent Pat realized a complaint concerning throughout the province. The first half of the winter was patchy however, but the end of January made the weather worse. The snow and frost penetration were good.

An early heavy freeze followed by a thaw. The weather was blamed by Lande and Forest men, in some districts, for preventing frost penetration.

Freeze operators who make use of frozen water routes and snow machines to pull stumps have been economic, not considerable difficulty. The hard frosts have been a blessing.

The snow machine is used to break the snow sufficiently to allow the trucks to pull the stumps. This takes much more time and cost before the usual process of pulling and using wheelbar equipment is undertaken.

By Clayton W. Hodgson, M.P.

The Honourable Brooks Claxton, Minister of Defence, announced in work. I believe he is the best man for the job on the Government side.

The Canadian Infantry Brigade's training was also completed. The Government agreed today that the Government will send the elements of the brigade shortly to Korea to assist in the final stages of the Primatone training exercise. This means 5000 troops will be leaving for Korea in the next few days. The Associated Press war correspondent who came back from Korea, said that the Government had decided to send the brigade to Korea. He stated they were in for some tough fighting as the Chinese Communists are really ruthless fighters.

The Government's 6 billion dollar defense programme is also being increased over a three-year period; the larger amount to be spent on the development of new weapons.

was scrapped practically all of our equipment since the last War, considerable of which would have been obsolete by now anyway. Therefore, we are very short of funds to supply any forces at National Defence can recruit.

The Honourable Mr. Howe has been on the job of munitions and supply along with his regular portfolio of Trade and Commerce. This will be a difficult position—one which entails a terrific amount of education has taken up most of the time during the two days of this week allotted to Private Members. The Honourable George Drew made an outstanding contribution to this subject on Thursday, February 22nd, in favour of the motion and when the vote was taken, the Opposition voted for it, as well as those Liberal members in the Party ranks, but the Leader of the Liberal Party in Ontario voted against Federal aid to education.

Thomas Foster Memorial Temple Near Leaskdale Reputed To Be Most Beautiful In The Nation

Sunderland (PNS) The hamlet of Leaskdale is widely renowned, due to the fact that just south of it and on the 7th St. of the Thomas Foster Memorial Temple stands, one of the most unique and magnificent landmarks of Canada.

It was built in 1902, and the Thomas Foster, ex-mayor of the city of Toronto, erected this temple to enable the memory of his family and to provide a mortuary chapel for the community in which he spent his boyhood.

The $300 from the sale of the butcher shop and hardware which Thomas Foster carried on as a young man in the town of Leaskdale and Post Office of Leaskdale was the financial start of the temple of millions, which he was to establish as a self-made man.

The financial venture was so amazingly successful that some four years ago he died at the age of over 80, leaving a vast estate in trust to many worthwhile charities.

Leaskdale Sunday School was left about $2000, the interest of which provides prizes, etc. for the pupils of the Sunday School of the Leaskdale Presbyterian Church. And very fittingly a portion of this money was spent last year in purchasing some volumes of the excellent works of L.M. Montgomery, who also brought renown to Leaskdale.

Visitors to Leaskdale and vicinity at first glance are struck by the Foster Memorial Temple. An impression of its outstanding architecture and materials, cutting in the neighbourhood of some million others when erected with further intricacy.

Unquestionably Byzantine in form but strangely modern in detail, the structure built of enduring materials, is an expression of the beauty and permanence of the Christian faith. The inscription reads to the donor when viewing the beautiful "Tha'aba" at Ayas, India, but the architecture of India, as foreign to Canadian soil as are the religions of India to our people, was not to be considered, nor were the forms of architecture associated with the temple in the jagged peak of Greece and Rome. However the earliest form of Christian architecture, those of the Eastern Roman Empire, proved adaptable and were the foundation for a new and entirely original design.

The exterior of the structure was in stone, heavy and solid, and of uplifting majesty of the earliest temples of Byzantium. The exterior were considered of moderate importance. However the interior of this temple is no measure be sacrificed to the exterior, but has been built to a degree; unsurpassed in many of the early Christian churches.

The floor is of richly polished terrazzo and marble mosaic in symbolic designs. On

Forum Believes The World Needs World Food Bank

The members of the World Food Bank held a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hinkley.

The members felt they could not attempt to formulate a system to govern, because it is to be a problem so far unanswerable to world nations. This topic of international concern, reminded the forum that too often the world was not caused by the great need created by hungry peoples. The scientific solution must be that it is cheaper to feed such people than to let them starve.

The forum then turned to the topic of the world food bank, and the members felt that it was necessary to have a world food bank to produce more food for themselves. After the discussion, a daily lunch was served by the hostesses and a social hour enjoyed by the members.
